International Student Workers: Use the appropriate PAF for his or her summer classification and continue to follow the instructions for hiring an international student worker provided on the International Students & Scholars Office’s (ISSS) website.
Why is the classification of ‘student worker’ or ‘temporary staff’ so important?

- The student FICA exemption is automatically applied to student jobs; neither SMU nor the qualified student pays FICA. However, the IRS requires that certain conditions be met in order for the employee to be eligible for this provision.
- The benefits charge is different for students. Our federal grants require that SMU applies the established benefits charge to all employee classifications, and that employees are classified correctly.
- Student wages are excluded from unemployment reporting.

What is the federal minimum wage?

The minimum wage is $7.25, effective 7/24/09.

Is a background check required when a student worker switches to temporary staff during the summer?

No, the Department of Human Resources has agreed to forgo the background check for existing students that will return to SMU for the Fall Term.

However if the student has graduated or has not begun his/her first semester yet, a background check is required.

When does the student need to complete Form I-9?

If the student stops working at SMU for more than one day OR if it is the first time the student is working at SMU.

- The department may contact Human Resources at 8-3311 to inquire about student’s last day worked. The department should not assume the student has a current I-9 without verifying with HR directly.
- The student must visit the Department of Human Resources to complete a Form I-9 on their 1st day of work.
- Hiring employees without complying with the employment eligibility verification requirements is a violation of the employer sanction laws. Fines can be assessed when the form are not completed in a timely manner.
- Reminders: NO FORM I-9 = NO WORK.
- The employee will bring to their department the New Hire Checklist as proof of completing the Form I-9.
